Dedication

This year the HALISCOPE is dedicated to two persons who have exemplified true service by giving of themselves to Halifax County High School.

They were in the classroom, urging students to learn for themselves, but providing guidance and encouragement for the confused.

They were staying after school to help plan student activities---Mu Alpha Theta meetings, Junior-Senior Prom decorations, and assembly rehearsals.

They were helping the school when few realized it: one struggling for hours with the Junior-Senior ballroom "ceiling" and working daily in the school store, the other assuming responsibility for senior candy sales or quieting the halls with her booming voice.

For their rewarded work, for their unrewarded work, and especially for the hours of dedication that will never be heard of, the 1963 HALISCOPE is dedicated to Miss Erna Glasscock and Miss Mildred Henderson.

Light Focus Dimension

Camera 10

A picture is an expression of a past incident, dark if the camera had no light, hazy if it had no focus, and flat if it had no dimension. This annual, Camera 10, seeks to picture the tenth year of Halifax County High School. There is focus--one on the students, the core of the school's existence. There is light--the learning which illuminates the students and gives them purpose. There is dimension--activities and sports which furnish depth. And so the picture becomes a vivid memory as a year, a film with only the number 1963, passes through Camera 10.

Learning was present in 1963,
as in every school year—
stimulating or relaxing.

But the spirit of enthusiasm and of fun enlightened the times of study.

Sports in 1963 meant hard work, reprimands, and disappointments offset by ultimate success in fellowship and cooperation.

In our tenth year, people, people, people were the essence of every activity.

Guidance Department Aids Students

Assisting college-bound students was one of the main tasks of the guidance staff of H. C.H.S. this year. This did not, however, take up all of their busy schedules.

Their other duties included administering various examinations, meeting and talking to parents of students, and helping students in various other ways, according to Miss Jane Blackwell, Guidance Department chairman.

This year's testing program began in October with the administering of DAT, STEP, and SCAT tests to students in the eighth, ninth, eleventh, and twelfth grades. The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) was given in October.

Then, with the second semester came more tests. On Saturday, March 2, College Board Examinations were given to the college-bound juniors of H.C.H.S. and a few students from Bluestone and Parkview high schools. In addition, the department repeated this test in May.

The following Saturday, 75 eligible juniors and seniors took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. The Guidance Department has also given special tests to individuals.

Another service which the Guidance Department performs is that of meeting and talking to the parents of H.C.H.S. students to supply useful information. The first meeting of this kind this year was one for the parents of college-bound juniors. Then the guidance staff met with the parents of eighth-grade students. At this meeting, members of the department explained to the parents the programs offered in high school, the testing program and the importance of good study habits and regular attendance.

One of the projects of the Agriculture Department, building the steelframe for a pickup truck, is being worked on by Larry Fears, Kenneth Waller, Eddie Moorefield, Eugene Montgomery, and Jerry Puryear.

Sam Carr and Ronald Loftis are busy sanding the gun rack which they made in shop, a part of their agriculture class.

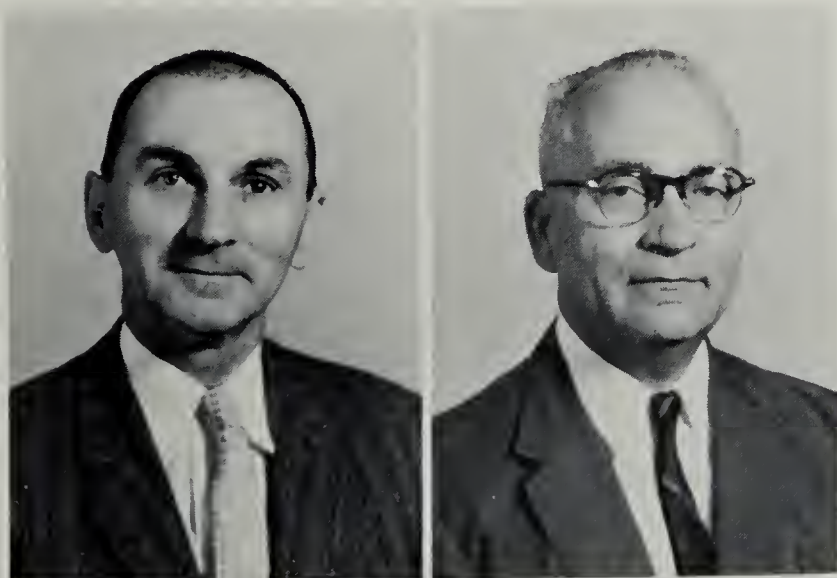

While various students operated machines that hummed away steadily in the Vo-Ag. shop, other agriculture students were busy studying classroom materials. In the shop, boys learned the basic fundamentals of arc-welding, tool-fitting, electricity, wood-work, and tractor maintenance. In the classroom, boys learned proper methods of cultivation and harvesting and the care of farm animals.

In 1962-'63, agriculture classes were divided into four main groups. Vo-Ag. I contained 60 students divided into three sections and Vo-Ag. II contained 40 students divided into two sections. Vo-Ag. III contained three sections totaling 50 boys, while Vo-Ag. IV was comprised of two sections with 43 boys. In addition, one eighth grade general course was taught.

Five competent teachers and three student instructors guided students in a course designed to aid young boys who plan to farm after graduation, to aid students who plan to take up agriculture in college, and to aid young farmers become established in proper farming methods.

Perhaps the highlight of the year was the annual F.F.A. rally at V.P.I. Only the top students of the agriculture classes were allowed to attend.

Business Education classes offered students a great opportunity to receive valuable and practical experience and training for clerical and secretarial work in later life.

Classes open to students this year included Typing I and II, Shorthand I and II, general business, recordkeeping, and bookkeeping.

Typing I and II were open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Shorthand I and II were taken by juniors and seniors. Sophomores, juniors, or seniors could take general business, while only juniors could take recordkeeping, and only seniors could take bookkeeping.

Advanced senior typists in shorthand transcription classes typed for the STAR and HALISCOPE, as well as several departments. No office practice was offered in the business department this year because of lack of space.

Students Excelled In Fine Arts

Advanced art students Martha Hudson, Becky Solomon, Robin Bradley, and Lawrence Holt put final touches on their oil paintings which they will enter in the art contest, a first at H.C.H.S. this year.

Kay Greer listens to the opera "Faust," which eighth grade general music classes studied.

The Art Department of H.C.H.S. offered courses to students in every grade and created more interest in art with the organization of the first Art Club here.

In studying the fundamentals of art, special emphasis was placed upon drawing, which was often done in pencil or charcoal. Students experimented with such techniques as "fresco", which is water color on wet plaster, and water-painting on velvet. Advanced art students did oil painting, while all students made designs and drawings with pin and India ink.

The Music Department is composed of the Senior and Beginner Bands, as well as the Concert Choir and the choir is composed of ninth grade girls.

Important events of the Music Department's year were at Christmas and Easter, when the band and choirs gave concerts of seasonal music.

The band had the honor of receiving an invitation from Myrtle Beach, South Carolina to play in the Sun-Fun Festival, which lasted three days. In order to raise money for the trip, members of the band sold doughnuts.

Several Concert Choir members were a part of the All-State Chorus which had a convention in February.

The kettle drums create a deep background for each musical selection in which they play a part.

Students Support Language Week

Latin student Roy Bradley tapes a story of the "Wars of Julius Caesar" which he will then play for the class.

The Foreign Language Department of H. C. H. S. promoted interest in travel and foreign affairs. Spanish, Latin, and French, the languages offered, also added enthusiasm at school during Language Week in May when an assembly, among other activities took place.

Spanish offered students courses in both conversational and classical Spanish. Students of Spanish joined the Spanish Club which entered a float in the Christmas parade at Halifax and had a dance in May.

As Latin students learned the importance of the language in life today, they also contributed to the school by making a Latin nativity scene for the lobby showcase at Christmas, and by publishing Latin newspapers. During Latin week, the first week in March, second year students were the masters of first year students.

French students published a French newspaper and stressed the importance of their language during French Week in the spring. Outstanding French students became members of the French Honor Society.

In Eighth Grade home economics classes, learning the proper way to set a table is one of the requirements of students. Linda Spainhour and Gayle Bomar set a breakfast table under their teacher's supervision.

Homemakers Learned Family Budgeting

"In spite of the fact that there were only 500 students enrolled in home economics and sociology classes, it is very important," commented Miss Erna Shotwell, head of the Home Economics Department. Not only does this department teach one to be a better future homemaker, but also an understanding member of his family.

Each year the Home Economics Department purchases approximately $500 worth of books and modern equipment. Students taking home economics serve at banquets and learn to sew, cook, and manage a family budget.

In addition to classes in home economics, the department offers a course in family sociology for boys and girls.

A concentrated program of composition was introduced to students in English classes this past year. From these compositions, teachers chose the most outstanding ones which were submitted to a faculty-student committee for consideration for publication in a literary magazine.

Three English teachers, Miss Priscilla Morse, Miss Nancy Carmack, and Mr. William Young studied one night a week for Masters of Arts in teaching at Duke University in addition to teaching their classes during the day.

In accelerated tenth grade English classes, paperback books in addition to regular literature books were used for the first time. This experiment was considered satisfactory by both teachers and students. Also, the rental of books in all English classes was continued.

The class of speech arts was reinstituted in the curriculum this year while the classes of 12 J and 11 J English disappeared.

Craft Centers Around Metal Works

Industrial Arts is a class for boys offered to all grades. This year there were six eighth grade classes and four ninth grade classes. Also there was one tenth grade class, one eleventh grade class and one twelfth grade class.

This year the industrial arts classes used mostly metal works. However, they did make wooden things, and some machines which were used to make other machines.

The tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade classes installed, set up, cleaned, and repaired the machines. During the second semester, the boys used these machines.

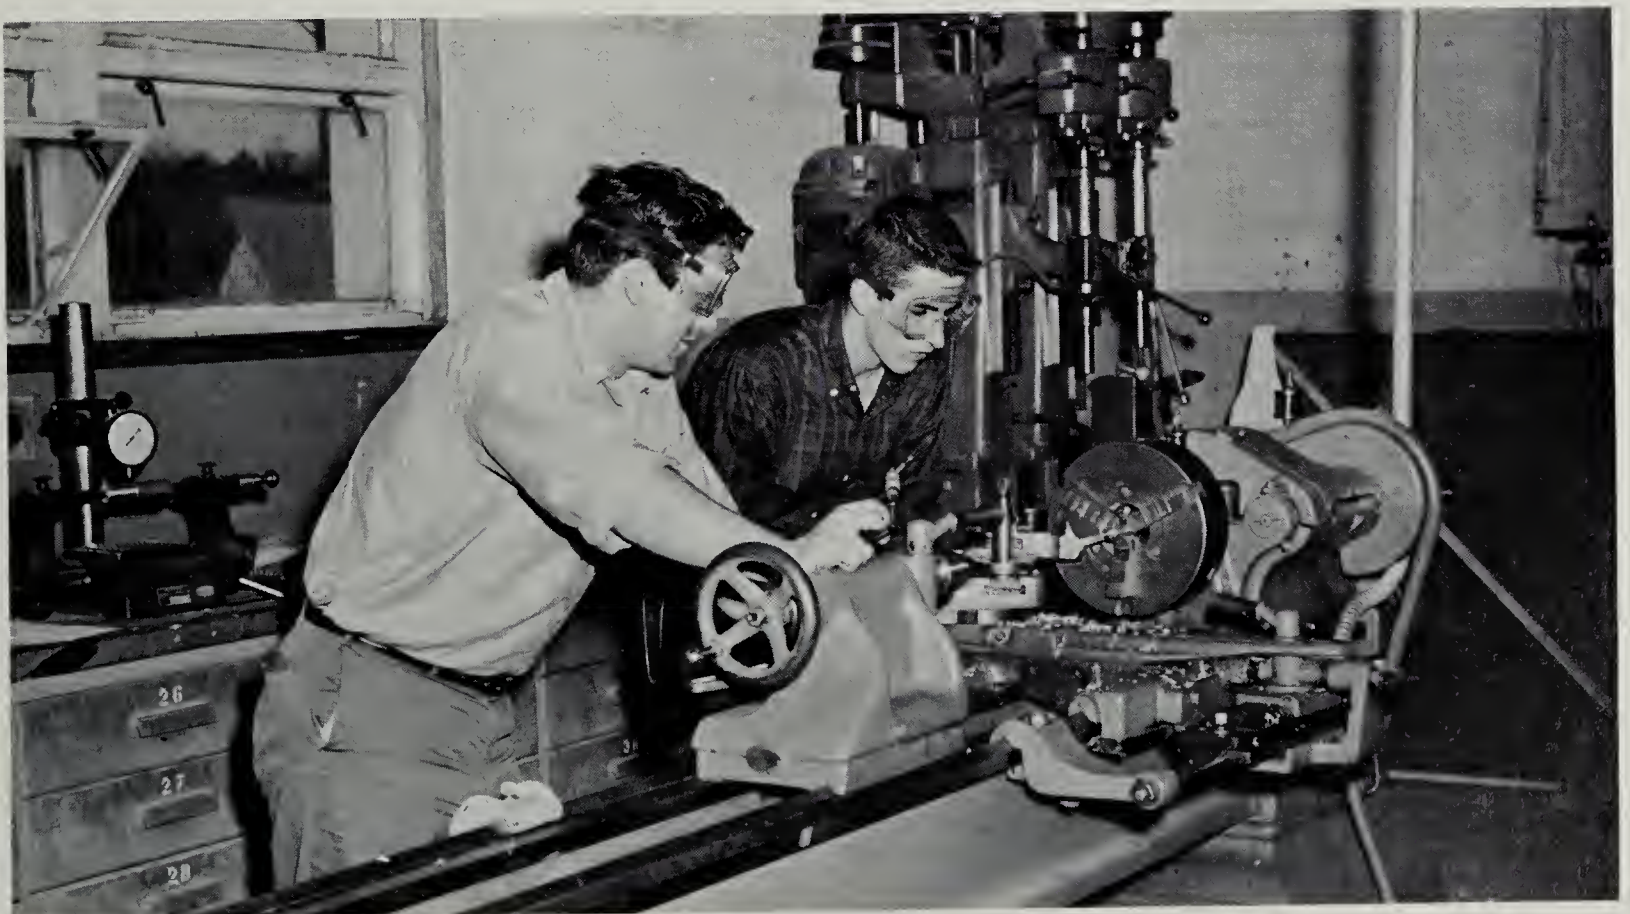

Making candle holders in metal work and footstools and chairs in wood work, were a part of the eighth and ninth grade program. All of the things made were displayed during open house, which took place at the end of the year.

Plane geometry, Algebra I and II, college algebra, solid geometry, trigonometry, and general math were the subjects in math offered to students this past year. In these classes, students puzzled over theorems, equations, and other baffling topics; most even saw the end of the year with passing marks. More students took college algebra, a college preparatory course, than ever before.

Students taking solid geometry, trigonometry, plane geometry, and Algebra II in the coming year may find a change in the classes. To combine Algebra II and trigonometry and to combine plane geometry with solid geometry was a topic discussed by representatives of the faculty, the administration, and the school board. All math students next year will be using new textbooks.

This past year, Miss Erna Glasscock, chairman of the Math Department, and another teacher from the department, attended meetings of department heads once a week with Principal J. Marshall Swanson. After these meetings, a meeting of all the math teachers was called at which the same topics were discussed.

Math Week was held in May to create an interest in math, which is often thought of as a dull subject. Displays from all the math classes were distributed throughout the school.

Physical Ed. Uses

The Physical Education Department teaches the fundamentals of sports, dances, and exercises.

All students in grades eight, nine, and ten, who are required to take physical education, participated in many sports and other activities. They danced, tumbled, played volleyball, basketball, football, softball, and soccer. As they participated in these activities, the boys and girls enjoyed the new equipment which consisted of mats, golf and archery equipment, and bar bell weight sets for the boys.

A driver's training course was also offered in the Physical Education Department. The students taking this course had to be at least fifteen years old and have a learner's or a driver's license. They had to have the permission of their parents and had to have finished the book on driver's training which is taught in the ninth grade. They also had to pay a fee of $3.

A new science curriculum and new equipment became a part of the Science Department this year.

Beginning with the 1962-'63 eighth graders, the program consisted of one-half year of biology and one-half year of earth-space science. Next year's ninth graders will take a half year of chemistry, and a half year of physics. This is the minimum amount of science required for a person to be graduated.

The equipment added to the department was very much needed. Some of the equipment purchased was a portable windicator, a metallic barometer, an electric Geiger counter, and a Wimhurst static machine, which produces static electricity. Two globes, one a terrestrial full meridian globe, and the other a celestial one, were also purchased.

Mr. Gay W. Valentine, a trained exhibits manager from Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, this year presented an assembly program entitled "This Atomic World". In this program the subjects of atomic structure, the nucleus and radio-activity, radiation biology, fission and fusion were discussed. He also lectured to advanced science classes the day he was present at H.C.H.S.

"This year in our social studies classes we have tried to keep abreast with the fast moving changes of today's world," stated Mrs. Mary McLaughlin, chairman of the department. "We also have taught comparative governments in order that students might understand communism more fully, and evaluate its threat."

To learn as much as possible about communism, all teachers in the department read one book each month and met to discuss the book.

United States government classes adopted an outline of communism study recommended by the State Board of Education. This study, which included the use of sets of three textbooks dealing with communism as compared to democracy, was taught in a joint class by two teachers for eight weeks. Local civic organizations gave money to buy the textbooks.

The Quiz Kids continued to test their knowledge of current events against that of other area high school students. Undeafated, by March they had won $100 in defense bonds.

United States and world history students furthered their knowledge by visiting places of historical interest and by continuing the use of the television course.

Vocational Students Serve School

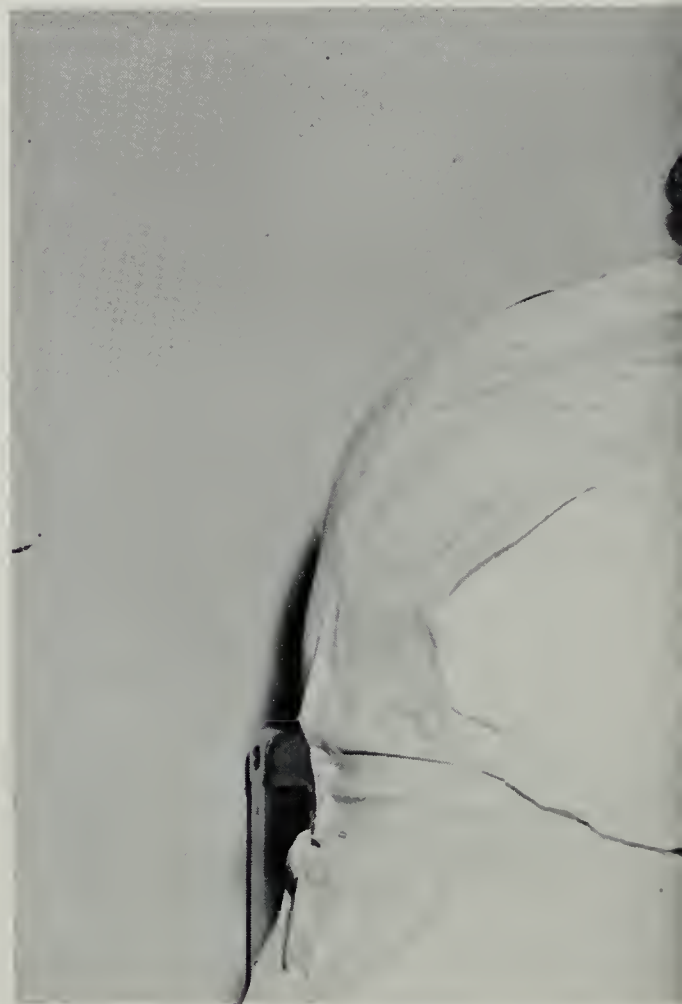

The Vocational Department at H.C.H.S. is made up of three groups: the distributive education classes, the practical nursing classes, and the industrial cooperative training classes.

Distributive education classes are designed to train young men and women for full time employment in a distributive occupation after graduation, either in retail, wholesale, or service establishments.

The practical nursing class at H.C.H.S. is a seventeen month course that trains senior girls and adults to meet the needs of the nursing profession. At the completion of this course, the student receives the diploma of a practical nurse.

The Industrial Cooperative Training Program is for qualified juniors and seniors who want training in technical and medical occupations. The overall objective of this program is to train students for future employment in these fields.

The students in the Vocational Department perform many services for the school with their projects. They occupy many jobs throughout the county in many different fields.

Class Of '63 Looks Toward The Future

Comet Quiz Kids Anne Williams, Vicky Dyer, Rusty Campbell, and Lynda Loftis read newspapers and study hard during the week for the weekly current events program on WHLF.

Underclassmen

Focus on the underclassmen—juniors, sophomores, freshmen, and eighth graders becoming a part of the school . . .

Looking over the plaque that the juniors gave Principal J. Marshall Swanson are class officers Kitt Campbell, vice-president; Jean Snead, secretary; Ricky Harrell, president; Margaret Murphy, reporter; Russell Lindley, treasurer; and Tommy Fisher, sergeant-at-arms.

The Junior Class

During their first year as upper-classmen, juniors began to dominate H.C.H.S. activities. Through work and study in the classroom and active participation in the S.C.A. and clubs, eleventh graders prepared for their upcoming roles as seniors, leaders of the school. They were eligible for such honors as membership in the National Honor Society and the Quill and Scroll.

A big event in the junior year of the Class of 1964 was the trip to the State Capitol. In January four buses of eleventh grade American history students toured Richmond.

In preparation for the social highlight of the school year, the Junior-Senior Prom, the Junior Class early in the year began raising money. Money-making projects included sponsoring a dance after a ballgame and sponsoring the fall production "Janie". Later they turned to selling candy as a source of profit.

In honor of Principal J. M. Swanson, the eleventh grade presented a surprise assembly, "This Is Your Life, Mr. Swanson". In this unique program, juniors portrayed two memorable scenes from Mr. Swanson's life, and introduced friends whom he had not seen for thirty-five years. The presentation of a gold plaque to the principal climaxed the assembly.

Finally on May 4, after many hours of planning, painting, and much other frantic preparation, juniors completed the transformation of the H.C.H.S. gym into a Paris wonderland. "Paris in the Spring" was the theme of the 1963 Junior-Senior Prom. The "Thunderbird All-Stars", a combo from Hampden-Sydney provided music for the gala evening.

Privileges They Will Have Next Year

In the Junior Assembly "This Is Your Life, Mr. Swanson," Sonny Hall (left) portrayed the young Mr. Swanson and Tucker Watkins, his brother John, as they went to school by "horse" and carriage.

Sophomore officers are (FIRST ROW) David Dunn, president; Jere Ann Hiller, reporter; Patsye Rutherford, sergeant-at-arms; Tom Earp, vice-president; Carol Owen, secretary; and Tommy Stevens, treasurer.

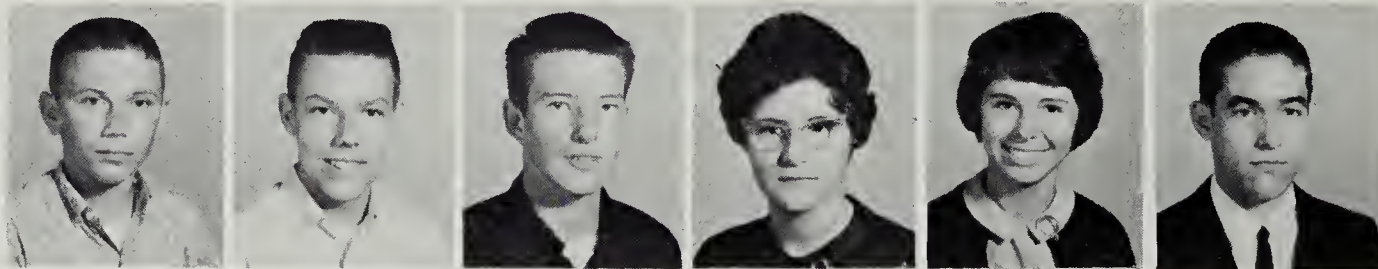

Reaching the midpoint of their high school life, the Sophomore Class began to take an active part in H.C.H.S. activities. For the first time many tenth graders dominated the reporting positions on the school publications. Another first in this field is that the sophomores were eligible to go to the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in New York with the journalism class.

With many thoughts turning toward the highlight of their H.C.H.S. career, the Junior-Senior Prom, the sophomores had several money-making projects. The class sponsored a dance after a game and an assembly program in February. Presenting a typical day of television, many of the students participated in sketches portraying "The Beverly Hillbillies," "The Edge of the World," a "Presidential Press Conference," and the famed "Doctor Kiljoy."

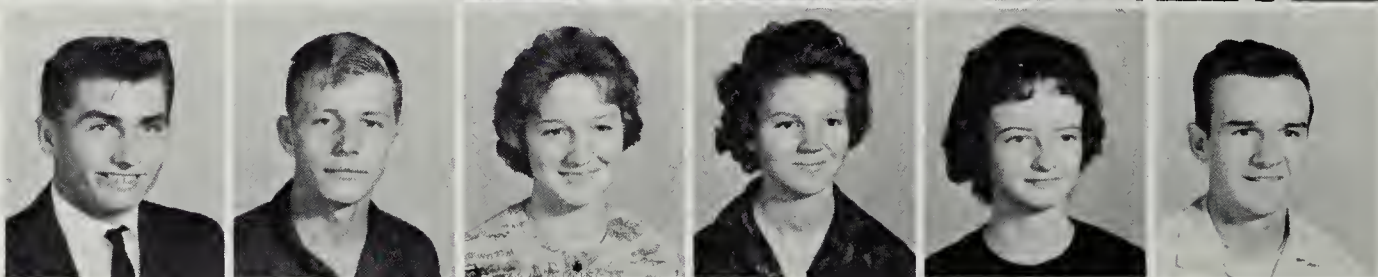

Preparing in advance for the days after graduation, the tenth graders have begun to feel a closeness with their classmates and a high sense of cooperation and willingness to work.

Scenes From The Sophomore Assembly

Dr. Kiljoy (Bruce Brown) and Dr. Guillotine (Walter Anderson) prepare to operate on a patient.

A presidential press conference featured Bill Cale's JFK impersonation.

Virginia Henry, Mary Armi Hodges, Bill Cale, Emily Hankins, Patsye Rutherford, and West Wooding, cast members of the "Beverly Hillbillies," "live-it-up" during a curtain call.

Freshman officers are Geneva Salley, secretary; Gus Mitchell, reporter; David Canada, sergeant-at-arms; Tommy Thompsen, treasurer; Luanna Campbell, vice-president; and Vandy Saunders, president.

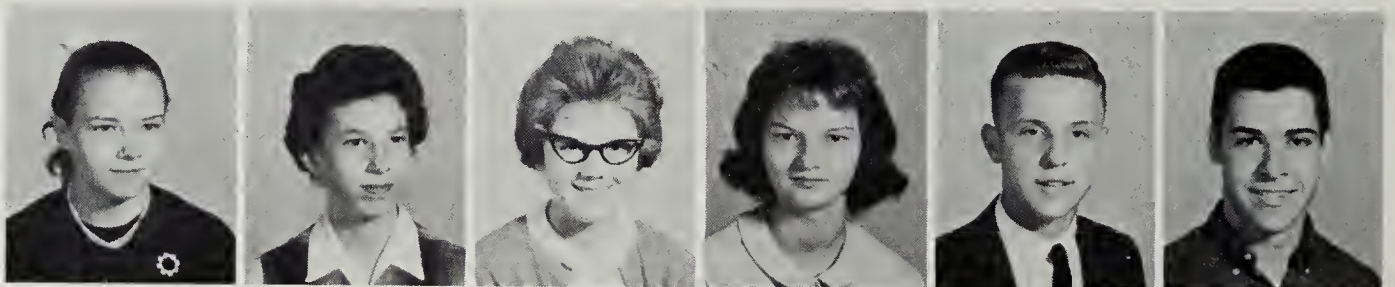

School life takes an important lead when students reach the ninth grade. They become more involved in extra-curricular activities such as joining clubs, going out for sports, and taking part in various other phases of Halifax County High School. This is the year that the top scholars are eligible for membership in the Junior National Honor Society.

To build up their treasury for their Junior-Senior Prom in 1965, the Freshman Class sold calendars and sponsored a dance after a basketball game. Under the direction of Mrs. Paulita Patterson, the students produced the annual May Day Program.

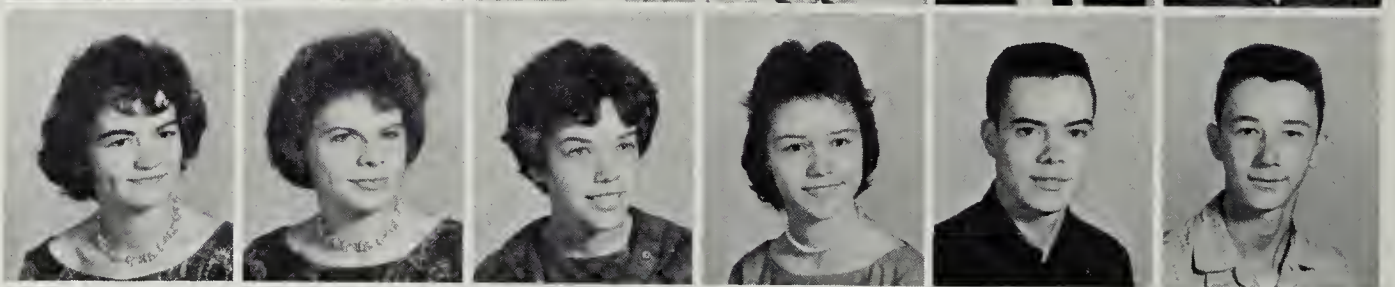

The ninth grade, which has the largest number of students at H. C. H. S., was very active in S. C. A. work and served on many committees in other student organizations. Members of the first class to be introduced to the audio-lingual Spanish program, many freshmen took part in the accelerated math, science, and foreign language programs.

Students changing classes crowd the halls of Halifax County High.

Football manager Billy Henderson presents Donna Ratcliff, the 1962 Homecoming Queen, with a football signed by all the members of the football squad. Donna's escort is Ned Strange.

Eighth graders from the nine elementary schools gradually adapt to the life of high school students at H.C.H.S. The newcomers spend their first year of high school taking a general course of study and gradually beginning to understand the responsibilities and to solve the problems of a class.

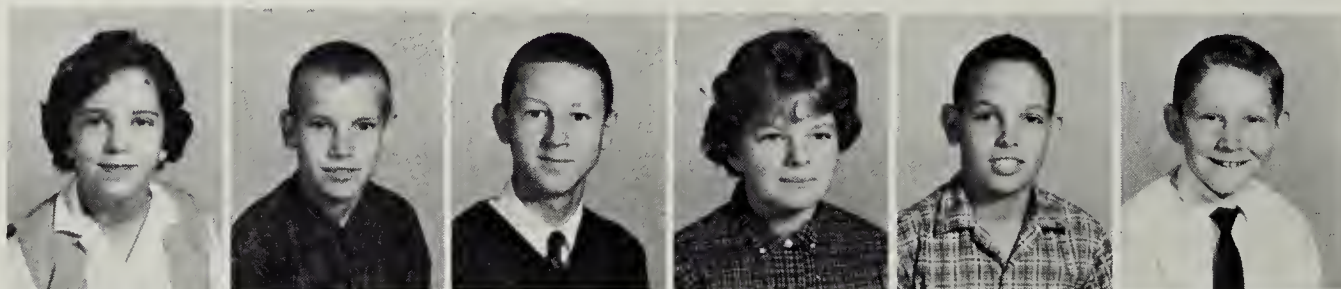

This year eighth graders were the first to participate in a new program in the Science Department. This program consisted of one-half year of earth science plus one-half year of biology.

To help finance the Junior-Senior Prom for '66, the class sponsored a dance after the first basketball game in December. They also presented an assembly in May called "The Life of an Eighth Grader," a satire on the mistakes and problems that the class had met during the year.

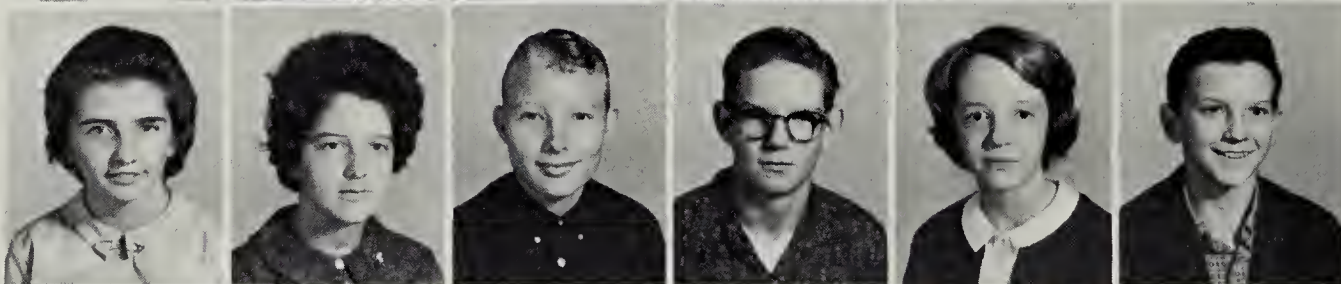

It was one of the largest classes ever to attend H.C.H.S.

S.C.A. Serves Students And Faculty

Of the various organizations in H.C.H.S., the S.C.A., or Student Cooperative Association, is probably the most important and most active one. It sponsored many activities such as the Homecoming parade and dance, the Christmas drive, in which items for needy people were collected, and the Topsy Turvey dance. In addition to this, the S.C.A. contributed $100 to the local scholarship loan fund.

Members of the S.C.A. attended meetings with representatives from other Virginia schools in order to learn how their Student Cooperative Association functions. Among them were ten underclassmen who attended the Miller and Rhodes Virginia High School Forum. Also, Nell Lacy and Ray Kilgore participated in a forum at the District E principal's meeting and Chuck Seabolt, Rickey Harrell, Ray Kilgore, and Mr. Gerald Tudor, S.C.A. sponsor, attended the state convention in Harrisonburg.

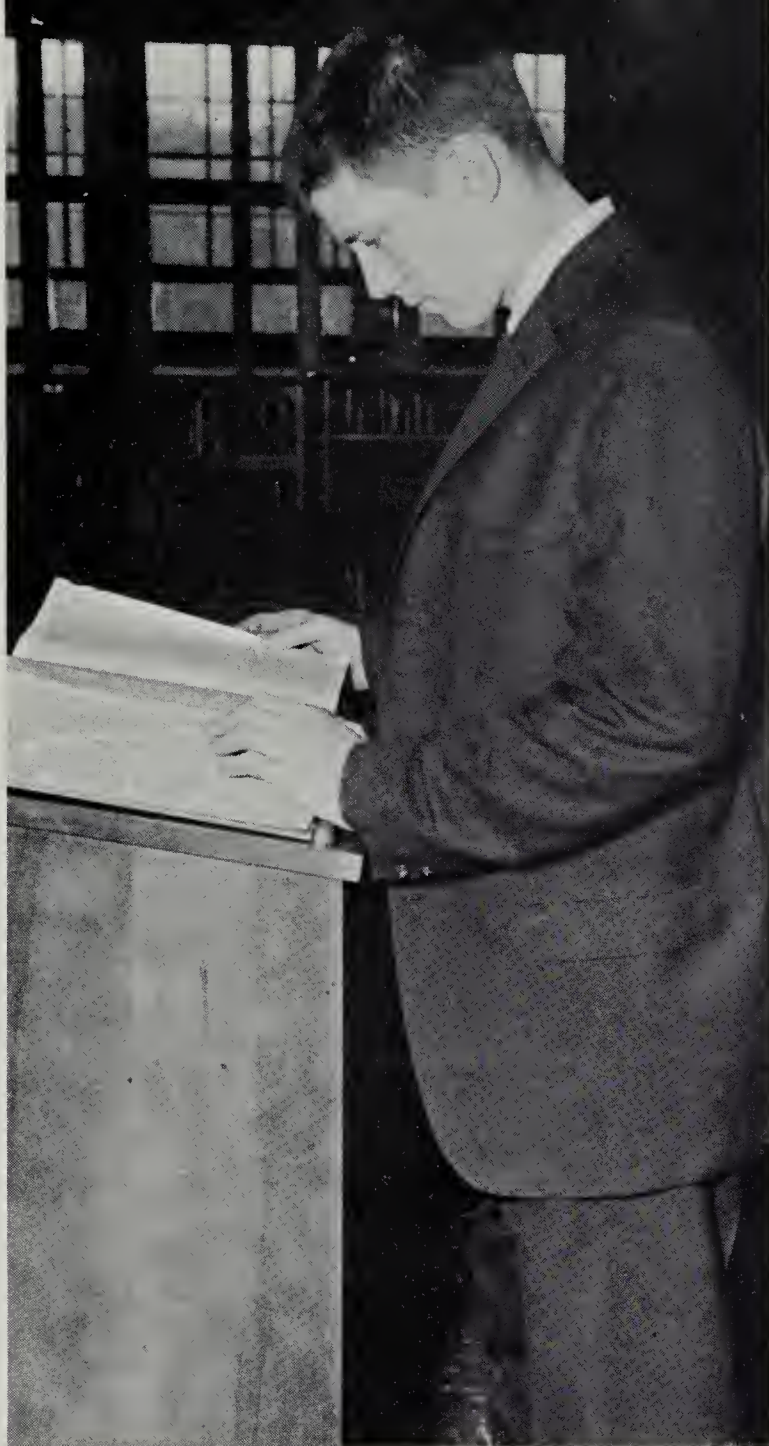

The induction of newly elected officers was in May.

Vice-president Rickey Harrell and secretary Elinor Carter run off the S.C.A. minutes that are delivered to every homeroom.

Honor Society Taps Eleven Seniors

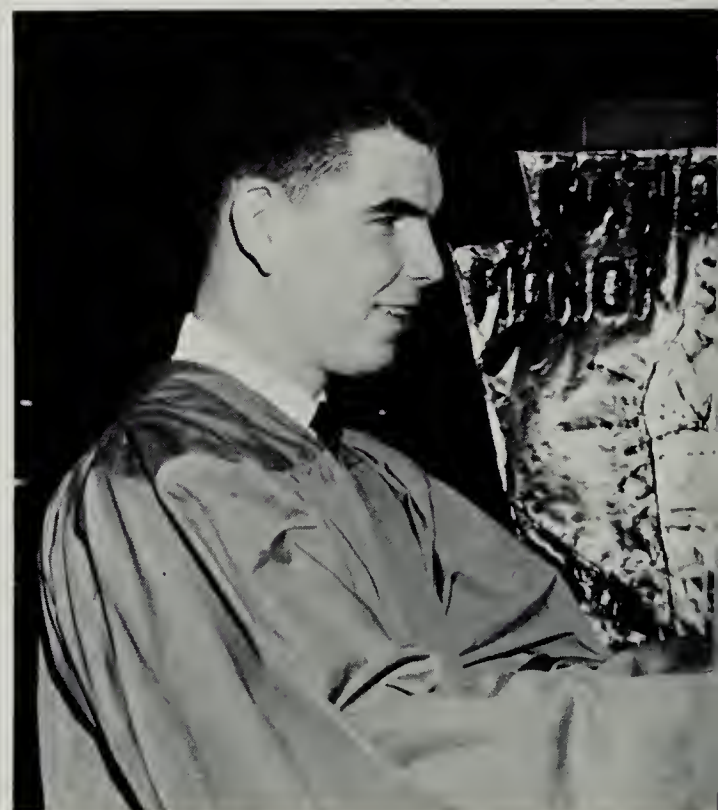

Membership in the National Honor Society is one of the highest honors given at H.C.H.S. Every pupil in the school strives to obtain this outstanding goal.

To be eligible for consideration for admission into the society, a student must be a junior or senior who has maintained an average of 90 since the beginning of the ninth grade. Membership is limited to 15 per cent of the Senior Class. Only eleven seniors were inducted this year at the candle-lighting ceremony held in the gym in February. The juniors were inducted in the spring.

A scholarship of $200 was awarded this year for the first time to a deserving National Honor Society member. Money earned over a period of several years was used to obtain the specified amount. The money was made by selling stationery.

The Honor Society also had a float in the annual Homecoming parade in South Boston which took place in October.

After final exams the society held its annual picnic, to which all present and former Honor Society members were invited.

Ted Johnson is tapped into the National Honor Society by President Bobby Gordon.

Seventh grade students are taken on a tour of the school by Honor Society guide Hobson Meeler.

Junior Honor Society Guides On College Night

Studying hard to keep their 91 average are Tommy Jennings and Mary Glass.

The National Junior Honor Society, for students in the eighth, ninth and tenth grades, is a national organization for those students who have excelled in academic and service achievements in their school work.

To be eligible, a 91 average in scholarship is necessary. In addition to scholarship, leadership, character, and service are also important requirements for admission into the honor society.

Each year, those students eligible for admission are inducted in March and have to maintain their average and devotion to the school to remain in the society.

Students in the Honor Society serve as guides to visitors on College Day and also lead the seventh graders on a tour of the school during Visitation Day in the spring. This year, they also sold football programs at home games.

National Junior Honor Society members are (FIRST ROW) M. Beard; C. Osborne; T. Terry; B. Holt; D. Sizemore; T. Earp; L. Dixon; B. Weaver; C. Crews; B. Cale; D. Dunn; Miss Jennie Wagner, advisor. (SECOND ROW) C. Owen; E. Hankins; G. Shelton; K. Dyer; J. White; M. Wilkins; P. DeJarnette; N. Davis; L. Compton; A. Williams; D. Hudson; J. Adkisson; J. Terry; L. Lovelace; B. Crews; G. Edmunds. (THIRD ROW) M. Glass; C. Day; E. Powell; N. Poole; J. Burton; A. Pointer; P. Newby; L. Maxwell; M. Cage; B. Cassada; N. Moore; B. Good; C. Eastwood; M. Veasey. (FOURTH ROW) T. Stevens; C. Seabolt; R. Ingram; T. Jennings; H. Meeler; M. Hailey; T. Thompson; V. Saunders; M. Wilborn; K. Murray; F. Slingo; D. Murray; H. Patterson.

Members of the STAR staff, Nell Lacy, Jo Ann Bennit, Margret Hall, Em Edmunds, Jim Marillia, Vicky Dyer, and Morty Miller, deliver STARS to student lockers.

Top Journalists Taken In Quill And Scroll

Quill and Scroll member Mae Gregory Wall prepares to leave for the CSPA convention in New York City.

The Douglas Southall Freeman Chapter of Quill and Scroll at H.C.H.S. honors the outstanding high school journalists in Halifax County.

To become a member of Quill and Scroll, a student must be in the upper third of his classes and must have done superior work on the school publications. This year for the first time sophomores have been admitted as provisional members.

Juniors, Seniors and provisional members from the Sophomore Class attended the C.S.P.A. convention at Columbia University in New York City in March. While there, they attended classes and lectures to help them improve the publications at H.C.H.S. Visits to the sites of interest in New York, as well as attendance at a Broadway show, was squeezed in between convention meetings.

Other activities in which the club took part this year included a booth in the S.C.A. Fair in which students could play darts for old pictures from the publications. Also for the first time this year the club had a party for the senior members of the organization.

Mu Alpha Theta Members Read Math Books

Mu Alpha Theta member Walter Parker does research in preparing for his math project.

To create a keen interest in math and to give members an opportunity to study some mathematical topics not covered in the regular class periods are the main objectives of Mu Alpha Theta, honorary math club at H.C.H.S.

A student must have an average of 90 or above in all subjects taken since having entered high school. He must also have completed two and one-half years of math to qualify for membership. In addition, teachers who have majored in math while in college are eligible.

At an after-school meeting on March 12, new members were initiated into the club. Each new member was asked to turn in by the end of the 1962-63 term, a project concerning some phase of math interesting to him. Since this meeting was also the annual social meeting, initiates were given the chance to meet other members and acquaint themselves with the club rules.

Project and poster displays in the lobby, and mathematically designed bulletin boards throughout the school, informed all students of Math Week, which was sponsored by the Mu Alpha Theta in May.

Judy Compton admires attractive posters made by Mu Alpha Theta members for Math Week.

Thespian Troupe Excels In Dramatic

Bruce Brown and Allen Fuller attempt to humor Deanna Talley in a scene from the Fall Production "Janie".

Arts At H.C.H.S.

Donald Crawford and Butch Bailey supply music for Tommy Hunt, Ray Kilgore and C.D. Harris as they sing the title song from the play "Janie."

No! Students do not have to be movie stars to be in Thespian Troupe 1418. In fact, if one has never acted, he may join the troupe, which includes everyone from actors to stage hands.

Membership is achieved upon obtaining ten points by participating in at least two plays. A gold star is awarded to every student who earns an extra ten points, while Thespian Cups honor the two outstanding troupe members on Class Day.

This year the Fall Production was "Janie," by Bentham and Williams. The Spring Production consisted of three one act plays, "If Men Played Cards As Women" by Kaufman; "The Pajama Party" by Martens, and "The Ugly Duckling" by Milne. The latter was also presented in the District One Act Play Festival.

The student body looks forward to the school productions as a welcome interruption of otherwise routine school days.

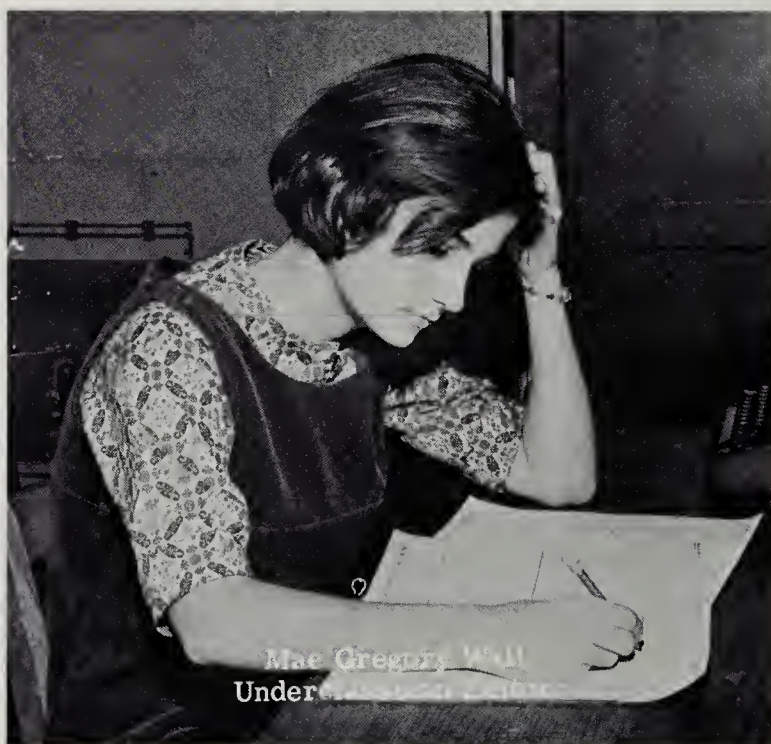

Mrs. Dorothy Crews discusses one of the three one-act plays in the Spring Production with Sharon McGhee and Mickey Vanney.

HALISCOPE Staff Sells 860 Annuals

Students who bought the HALISCOPE, H.C.H.S.'s yearbook, this year also received a first guarantee that if the annuals were not available by the end of the school session, they would get a money refund plus their yearbooks. This promise surely had something to do with the fact that 860 annuals were sold this year, thus setting a new record in annual sales.

This year's staff began early in the fall to plan for the 1962-'63 annual. Instead of having a HALISCOPE editorial board as in previous years, there was an editor in charge of each division. These editors tried for more action pictures and different layouts for them. Each club or organization was featured with a picture of its members and officers, a photo of some activity of the club, and a short summary of the year's events.

Contained in the annual was an individual picture of each student and faculty member. There was a different layout for senior pictures, with statistics on each senior page. Teachers were pictured by departments.

Sports activities, also, were covered in the HALISCOPE. Highlights of football and basketball seasons were a part of the sports section in the yearbook.

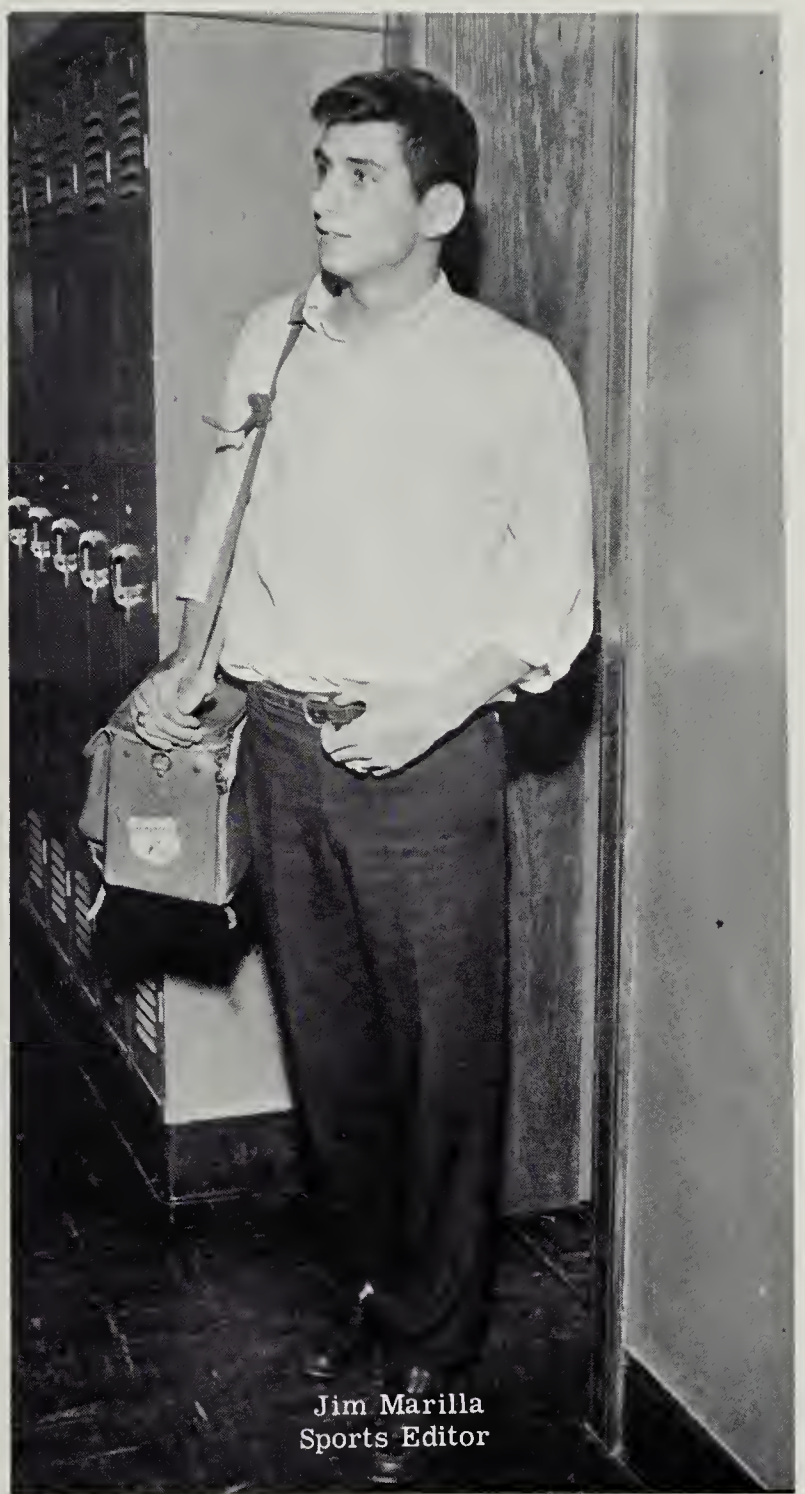

These features, added together, produced the largest annual ever edited by H.C.H.S. students. This edition has 244 pages.

The Star Informs Students On H.C.H.S. News

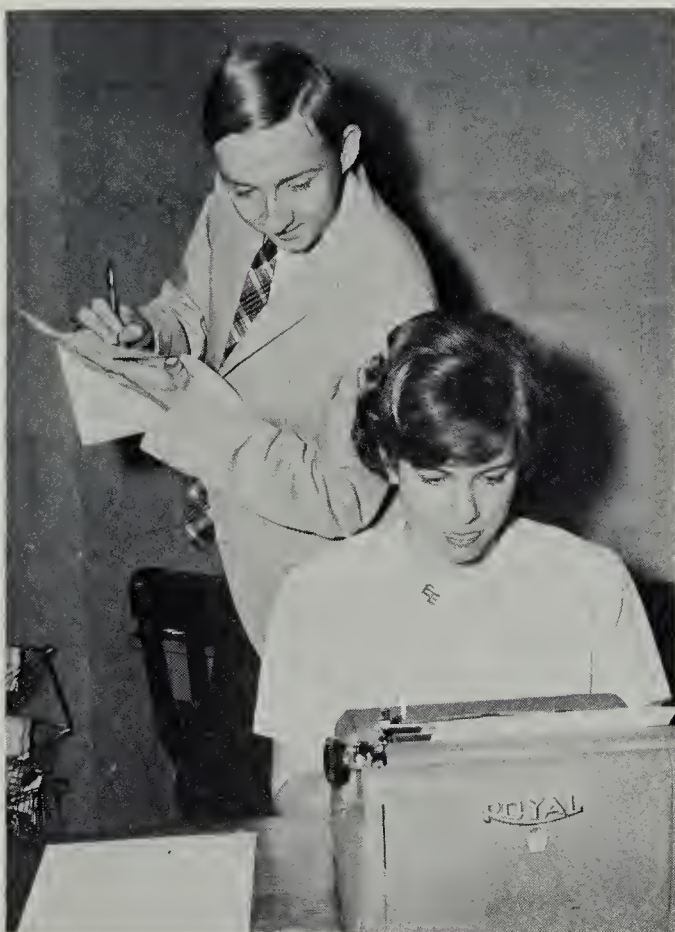

Allen Fuller, the editor-in-chief of the STAR, puts copy in the basket after going over it for mistakes.

Gayle Harmon (RIGHT) is reading copy while Faye Howerton, advertising manager, is going over the unpaid bills.

Sammy Brookes is stealing a few facts from Em Edmunds's column to put in his own column.

EXTRA! EXTRA! STAR MODERNIZES

That could have been a headline this year for the STAR. The STAR was full of innovations. One was a new article conversation added to the current list of regular articles.

The STAR stories were written by students from Mr. Fitz's sophomore English Journalism classes and some were written by a few juniors and seniors. Another was that for the first time in history Principal J.M. Swanson held a press conference with STAR reporters. Also the STAR sent 15 representatives to the CSPA convention in New York City.

With the DE Club taking over the job of selling ads and the advanced typing students doing the typing for this STAR, the work was lighter for the STAR staff. The STAR sold about 400 subscriptions and a record breaking number of STAR'S in the lobby.

STAR staff reporters are interviewing each other. They are (FIRST ROW) P. McDowell; J. Martin; C. Glass; N. Davis; S. Hutchison; T. Earp; C. Rogers; G. Shelton; B. Cale; A. Robbins; D. Joy, P. King. (SECOND ROW) M. Wall; M. Atkins; B. Fergerson; B. Wilborne; A. Pointer; M. Strickland; N. Anderson; J. Keatts; B. Crews; M. Hall. (THIRD ROW) T. Watkins; R. Harrell; L. Dixon; N. Moore; E. Rudder, B. Drum major Bobby Gordon is also a first chair trumpet player.

Members of the Comet Marching Band are (FIRST ROW) B. Dix; J. Daniels; E. Epperson; E. Crotts; D. Harmon; H. Owen; N. Coates; N. Davis; J. White; B. Sizemore. (SECOND ROW) D. Stevens; N. Watts; J. Band Sells Doughnuts To Finance Trip

Sun-Fun Festival! Myrtle Beach, South Carolina! These words brought joyous faces and happy cheers from members of the Halifax County High School Marching Band as they proudly accepted the invitation to participate in the annual Sun-Fun Festival in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, the week-end of June 7.

Doughnuts, a word the band members grew tired of hearing, was the chief source of money used to finance the trip. A subscription of ten dozen or more glazed doughnuts, supplied by the Krispy Kream Company of Roanoke, was the requirement of each member. Profits from these doughnuts financed the trip and got the band on their way.

Approximately 30 bands competed for honors in the parade and festival, an annual event that lasted for four days. According to Mr. Tussey, it is considered a great honor to be asked to take part in the festival because it is a national event and participation is by invitation only.

Enthusiasm, however, did not exist throughout the whole marching unit. The newest addition to the band, the Comettes, a drill corps composed of 24 regulars, one head, and four alternates, were excluded from the invitation. The Sun-Fun Festival was not the only event on the agenda for second semester. Preparations were made for the Dogwood Festival, elementary school concerts, spring concerts, an Easter program, and graduation exercises.

Among the highlights on the agenda for the fall were performances at all home football games and one away game and participation in four Christmas parades.

In the fall of 1962, the band and Comette Corps won second place in band participation at the Virginia Rescue Squads Association Parade in Danville.

Choral Club Participates In Choir Clinic

Mr. Jimmy Tussey directs the Concert Choir.

The outstanding activities of the 1962-'63 Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Jimmy Tussey, were concerts and performances at assemblies and graduation exercises.

A Christmas Concert was presented Wednesday, December 19, in the H.C.H.S. gym. Among the selections presented were a spiritual, "In - A - That Great Gittin' Up Mornin'," "The Angels' Song", and "In Dulce Jubilo."

For the first time the Concert Choir participated in a choir clinic in the Northside High School auditorium in Roanoke on March 30. Previously the choir had gone to a music festival, but since one was not held this year, the choir went to the new choir clinic.

The choir and band combined to present an Easter assembly in April. Among the best known selections presented was "The Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel.

The Concert Choir also presented its Spring Concert in May in the school gym.

The Ninth Grade Chorus members are (FIRST ROW) E. Carter; M. Smith; D. Irby; B. Wilson; W. Busick; L. Compton; L. Saunders; and Mr. John Mentzer, director. (SECOND ROW) S. Fogle; S. Roark; H. Library Sells Paperback Books

A first for student library assistants this year was the organization of a District E Student Library Assistants Club. Their meeting took place at George Washington High School in Danville. This spring they had another meeting at Randolph Henry High School in Charlotte Courthouse. The organization enabled all the student assistants from District E to exchange ideas on library programs at their schools and to stimulate interest in library work as a career.

In the past year there were 42 student library assistants who helped with library work by admitting students into the library, collecting fines, checking books in and out, selling paperbacks, typing cards for the card catalogue and checking out magazines. Besides helping with library work, the student assistants took a series of tests on the information a library offers.

As a result of these tests and laboratory work, the student assistants could meet the needs of other students and learn how to become librarians. For the first time this year, the student assistants received one-half credit in recognition for the valuable service they rendered to their school.

Also members of the Projectionists Club and their advisor, Mr. William Satterfield, gave their services by showing interesting movies in the classrooms.

An average of 300 to 600 students attended the library each day for pleasure reading, book reports, class reports, term papers and other work which required library use.

Miss Francis Woltz, head librarian, and Mrs. Pattye Hicks and Mr. William Satterfield, assistants, were always willing to help students and teachers in locating information. This was made possible by six assigned teachers who supervised study hall students in the library, thus saving the librarians valuable time.

Latin Club Visits Virginia Museum

Among the activities of the Latin Club this year were the publication of Latin newspapers, Latin Week and the climaxing dance, and a trip to Richmond to see a play at the Virginia Museum Theater.

Instead of the usual term papers or themes, Mrs. Elizabeth Harding, Latin teacher, required each Latin II student to work in a group to write and distribute Latin newspapers to all Latin students. These newspapers included world news, cartoons and crossword puzzles.

On March 9, two buses of Latin I and II students went to the Virginia Museum in Richmond to see the production, "A Woman From Colchis."

During the week of March 4 through 8, the Latin II students became masters and made the servants, first year students, do everything from carrying books to pushing pencils up the hall with their noses. To make up for their hard-suffering a dance was held in the lobby Friday night and both groups became equal again, as Latin Week ended.

(FOURTH ROW) Pam Crews; Nell Lacy; Anne Williams; and Mary Lou Gilliam. (FIFTH ROW) Margaret Hall; Em Edmonds; Phyllis Cassada; and Candy Canada.

The main highlight of the French Club activities this year was the observance of French Week. During this week members of the club published a newspaper in French and placed displays in the showcase in the lobby. All of the week's activities were built around a central theme, "Some Highlights of French Literature." The culmination of the week was the annual banquet held on Friday night with menus and favors in French. Special guest speakers addressed the group.

After the banquet, new members were inducted into the National French Honor Society. Those inducted were chosen because of their high average in French, and their aptitude, interest, application to the work, creative ability, and character.

All French students belong to the French Club. The club meets only twice a year, at Christmas and in the spring, but special committees, who handle most of the work, meet many times.

At the first meeting, held a week before Christmas, members sang Christmas songs and discussed French Christmas and New Year customs. A social hour followed.

The French Club serves many valuable purposes; to unify the first and second year students, to supplement the classwork, and to offer fellowship. At present there are only two years of French offered, but it is hoped that in the future, the third and fourth years will be added to the curriculum.

One of the club's projects this year was to keep up with alumni who continued to study French in college. Many of these students wrote letters to the club in French, and these letters were displayed during French Week.

Spanish Club Writes New Constitution

"Adelante, siempre, adelante." Do you understand that statement? If not, you must not be among the more than 60 members of "Conquistadores Espanoles," the Spanish Club of H.C.H.S. The translation is "forward, always, forward", and this motto expresses the attitude the club has toward better student understanding of the Spanish language and customs. All students with a "C" average or higher are eligible for membership in the club.

During the holiday season the Spanish Club sponsored a float, which represented the Nativity scene, in the Halifax Christmas parade. A dance was given in March and inductions for new members of the club took place during Language Week.

Since the previous constitution for the club was lost, a new one was drawn up. It stated that the president of the club should come from the group of students taking the highest year of Spanish. The Spanish Honor Society, originally for students with a 90 average in Spanish, wasn't in operation during the first semester; but later in the school year a committee was set up to re-organize and improve the society.

Science Club Holds Science Fair

Juan Chaves and Robert Bagwell watch a physics experiment backfire.

For the first time, Science Club members did not have to be taking a science course to be in the Science Club. The only qualifications for membership were to be interested in science and to prepare a project for the annual Science Fair.

The highlight of the club's year was the Science Fair. Opened to all students, the fair was divided into two sections, biological and physical. From each section there was a first place winner and three honorable mentions.

One of the Science Club Meetings featured a civil defense program. The Halifax County civil defense co-ordinator demonstrated parts of the civil defense emergency hospital, which is stored in the school's basement. It was suggested that the Science Club Members should serve as civil defense workers for H.C.H.S. The club members would act as monitors to try to guide the students as safely as possible to the buses in case of a necessary evacuation.

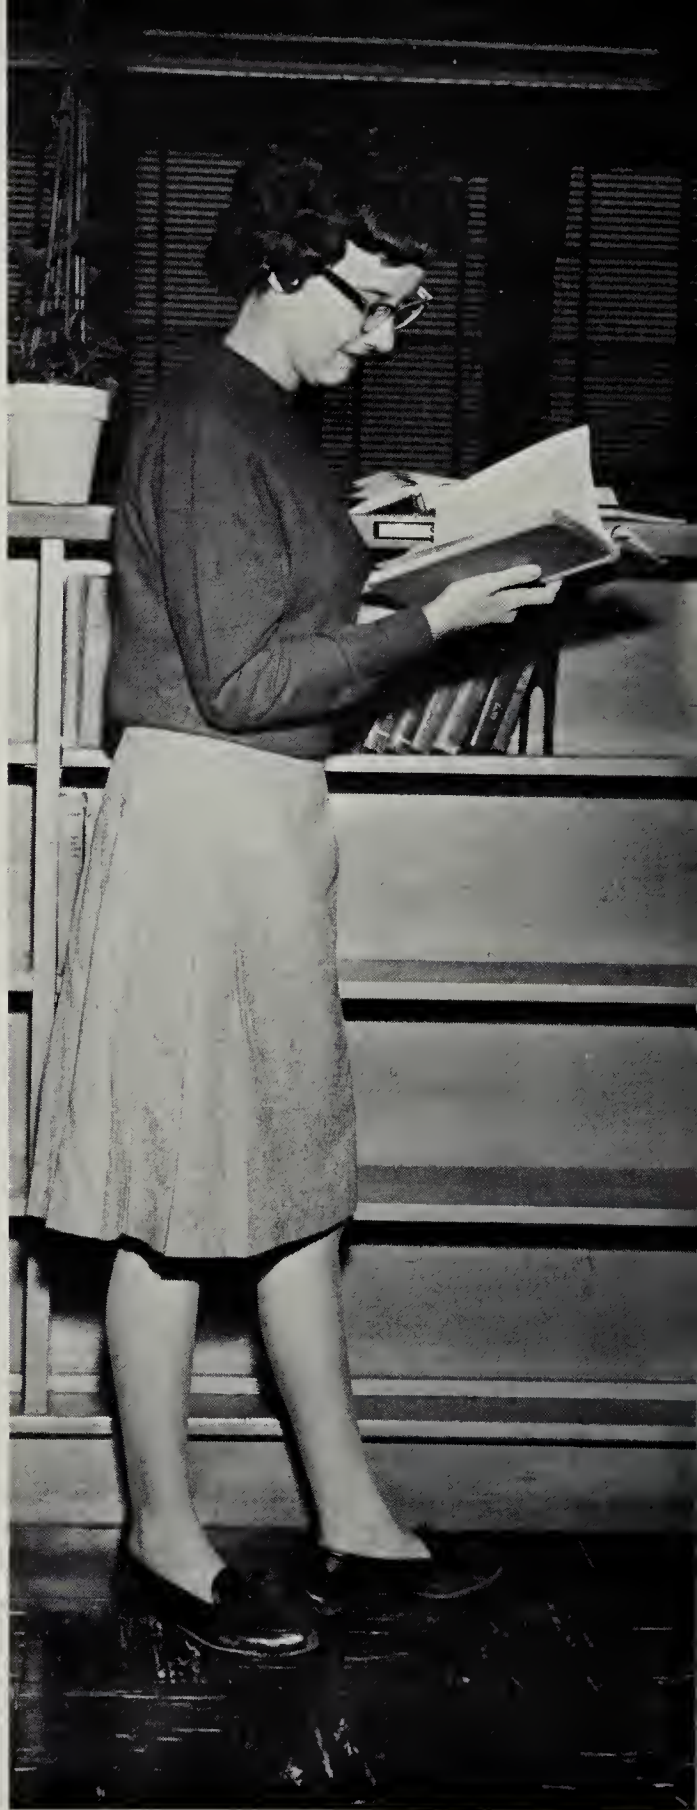

For their social event of the year, the club members held their annual spring picnic.

F.T.A. Members Hear Guest Speakers

The main purposes of the F.T.A. are to interest more boys and girls into entering the field of professional teaching as a career, to recognize that education is a vital part of the future of America and the world, and to extend to each of its members an understanding of the goals required for a good teacher.

Qualifications for becoming a member are having a "B" average at the end of each semester on every course taken, and being a student in the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades. There are approximately 50 members in the club this year making the largest number of members that the club has ever had.

Activities of the club included entertaining guest speakers, viewing several filmstrips on teaching careers open to students after completion of college, taking over classes as substitutes for absent teachers, serving as helpers for keeping teachers registers, doing voluntary grading work, and touring a nearby college at the end of the year.

Every spring, the club observes Teacher-Career Month. Posters and bulletin boards are put up by the members during one week of the month. During that week each member is given a chance to choose any subject in which he may be interested or experienced, and then to teach that subject one period a day for a week. These "new" teachers are encouraged to apply new and original ideas of their own. At the end of the week, the club meets and each member tells his teaching experiences. A tea party given by the club in honor of all teachers climaxes the month.

F.B.L.A. Prepares Handbook For Members

To begin the 1962-'63 school term, the Future Business Leaders of America prepared a special handbook for its new and old members. Included in this handbook was a calendar which outlined several money-making projects and many social events that the H.C.H.S. chapter of the F.B.L.A. had planned for the year.

New members, having the requirement of at least one business subject, promptly went to work with the old members to raise money. They sold light bulbs and blue H.C. H.S. banners. In December and February they conducted two different bake sales in order to add money to the treasury of their club.

One of the important events of the school year was the executive board meeting in Richmond at the John Marshall Hotel. Ida Mae Cole, president of the H.C.H.S. chapter and state historian, attended this meeting. Here she and the other attendants planned the state convention.

When several of the members of the club journeyed to Longwood College to the Regional Convention, they carried their entries which they placed in the scrapbook, essay, bulletin board, and public speaking contests. While she was there, Janis Gravitt, H.C.H.S. chapter reporter, took part in the regional elections by competing for the office of regional secretary.

At the state convention in Richmond, the Halifax County chapter was in charge of the state elections. The winners of the contests at the regional convention participated in the state divisions of the same contests.

In April the banquet for all of the members took place in the school cafeteria.

Club Sponsors Sidewalk Art Sale

Halifax County High School's first Art Club was organized in February of this year. The club's advisor is Mr. Bob Law, art teacher. Scholarship, service, and a sincere interest in art are the requirements for membership.

In writing the constitution for the club, the third year art students stated these purposes and objectives: "The object of this club shall be to create an enthusiasm for superior scholarship in art; to stimulate a desire to learn more about art; to promote and to encourage the development of art in our school and our country."

Club activities progressed as the officers were elected, the dues were set, and official club pins and rings were selected and ordered. Officers selected were Becky Solomon, president; Steve Morse, vice-president; Melanie Jones, secretary; Jeanne Sneed, treasurer; and Peggi Wilson, reporter.

Art Club plans for the second semester included a sidewalk art sale. Members of the club donated some of their best work and, attired in French berets, sold it on the sidewalks of South Boston. Plans also included a similar sale at the S.C.A. Fair with an outdoor art gallery.

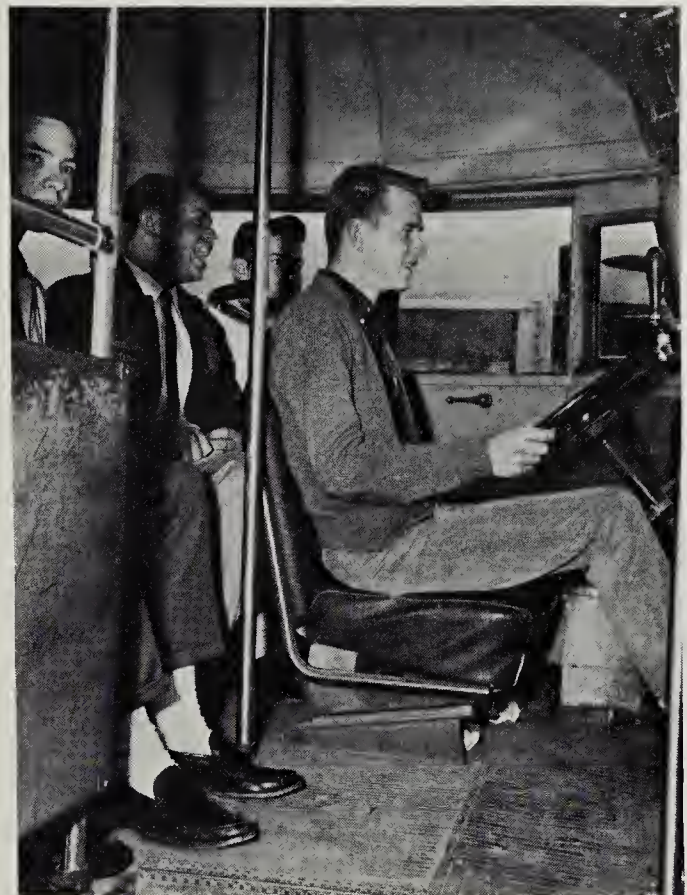

Bus Drivers' Club Promotes Safety

To promote safety was the aim of the newly organized Bus Drivers' Club at Halifax County High School during the 1962-63 school year. The club was the first to be formed in the history of the high school.

It was made-up of thirty-five regular and alternate bus drivers. The officers were Wiley Blanks, president; Lawrence Holt, vice-president; Rose Marie Arendall, secretary; Robert Kell, treasurer; Charles Smith, sergeant-at-arms; and Willie Conner parliamentarian. The club tried to have as many meetings as possible, which was usually one a month.

In the spring the club members enjoyed a banquet given in the school cafeteria. Also the club ordered blue and white jackets for the members.

D.E. Members Serve As Monitors

Graduation--then what? This is no problem for the Distributive Education Club students, because they are trained for full-time employment after graduation. They are employed by local merchants and work two class periods and after school each day as well as on Saturdays.

The Halifax County High School Distributive Education Club is one of the largest programs in the state and was the only club in the district this year. Members performed such duties as raising the flag each morning, operating the school store and lost and found department, as well as monitoring the halls.

The D.E. Club attended the distributive education district and state leadership conferences this year. The district leadership conferences were held in February. Their annual Employer-Employee Banquet was also held.

Several members of the club won awards in the D. E. District 12 contest. Steve Morse won first place in advertising layout and copy writing. Sammy Walden won second place in merchandise presentation while Betty Terry won second place in the professional selling contest.

Dwight Holt, D.E. Club president, raises the flag, which is one of the many services of the D.E. Club.

D. E. Club members are (FIRST ROW) N. Lacks, F. Howerton, S. Buchannon, N. Claye, B. Powell, B. Terry, G. Weatherford, B. Young. (SECOND ROW) Mr. C. Wimbish, J. Snow, H. Yancey, B. Ford, A. D.O. Students Win In District Contest

Mr. Mickey Blain awards a $25 savings bond to Nancy Cole for meritorious service as a student trainee.

The objective of the Diversified Occupations Club is to train its members to be industrious workers in a program called Industrial Cooperative Training.

In the D.O. Club students are given a chance to work in various technical and service occupations, depending upon the particular field he might choose. Each member of the club is required to work four hours each week day and all day on Saturdays. This amounts to about twenty five to thirty hours a week.

This year several of the twenty eight D.O. Club members went to G.W. in Danville to participate in a district contest that consisted of exhibits and participating in contests. Winning seven out of eight first place entries, local members received the Most Outstanding Club award at the District V meeting.

Nancy Lee Cole won the highest possible award by being named the D.O. Student of the Year. She also won first place in the essay contest and the spelling. Tommy Hunt placed first in public speaking, the second highest award given.

Other first place winners included Ray Bowes in job applications, Ida Mae Cole in the display contest, and Henry Martin in the poster contest.

To focus on family friendship has been the F.H.A.'s main aim this year.

This year's activities included the Federation meeting at Randolph Henry in October and the F.H.A. state convention in June. Once a month the club had a business meeting, usually followed by a program. At the beginning of the school year, in September, the F.H.A. had an introductory program to introduce students to the organization. During the summer, the club sponsored a week work shop at which officers planned program work for the coming year. Members also were eligible to attend a F.H.A.-F.F.A. state camp.

Among this year's honors for club members, the F.H.A. Girl-of-the-Month was a special feature. Those members who were chosen for Girl-of-the-Month honors were Annette Williams, Jane Adkisson, and Wanda Smith. Also sharing the spotlight with these three girls was Gayle Layne, who received a scholarship given by the Young Homemakers of Virginia. The F.H.A. was also named an outstanding chapter last summer at the state convention.

One of the most important highlights of this year's social calendar was the F.H.A.-F.F.A. Valentine Dance, February 14, at which Patricia Roller was chosen queen of the dance. The Mother-Daughter Banquet, April 5, was another climactic event. Mothers attending this banquet met teachers and other members of the F.H.A. They also were given a general idea of what the club had been doing.

Members of the F.H.A. have aided the school by rendering their services as waitresses at banquets and have served the community by working as nurses' aids in the local hospitals.

F.H.A. members are (FIRST ROW) S. Pugh, G. Doss, P. Roller, B. Good, G. Layne, G. Cunningham, J. Adkisson, P. East, P. Francisco, Mrs. Greenwood. (SECOND ROW) T. Wharton, P. Coates, J. Puryear, R. F.F.A. Wins Recognition In National Events

In promoting agricultural leadership, co-operation, and citizenship, the Halifax County Chapter of Future Farmers of America won recognition, not only in Virginia, but also in the nation this year.

The dairy judging team, made up of James Elliott, Horace Moss, and John Owens, and the livestock team, made up of John Childrey, Eddie Medley, and Charles Snead both made history in October in that they were the first teams from this school to represent Virginia in national F.F.A. events.

Traveling to Waterloo, Iowa, the dairy team won a bronze plaque in dairy products and honorable mention in dairy cattle. The livestock team, which went to Kansas City, received a bronze plaque in meat's judging and honorable mention in livestock.

In crop-raising, the crops' team, made up of James Vernon, Robert Ford, and Wayne Womack, placed third in the state.

Rewarded with a plaque and $100, the chapter forestry program won third place in the state. The forestry judging team of Wayne Palmer, Eddie Medley, Wiley Blanks, and Edward Tuck, place fourth in the state.

In highlighting individual awards, Eddie Chaney was elected to the American Farming Degree, the highest degree possible.

Those students who did outstanding work in the chapter's instructional program, which was composed of supervised farming, animal science, plant science, farm mechanics, farm management, farm family living, and leadership, received awards at the annual Father-Son Banquet held February 21. Also at the banquet Mr. R. A. Leggett was awarded the Honorary Chapter Farmer Degree for interest in agriculture and in agricultural education.

Assisting the chapter's five instructors this year were three student-teachers. These eight teachers supervised the chapter's planting of 40,000 pine seedlings.

F.F.A. officers are Jerry Jones, sentinel; Thomas Martin, treasurer; Edward Tuck, secretary; Eddie Medley, president; Eric Hudson, vice-president; and James Vernon, reporter.

Freshman football captain Vandie Saunders picks up a good block from an unidentified Comet player and gains long yardage against Roxboro.

Comet Fans Enjoyed Seven Home Games

Senior halfback Jim Marilla attempts to catch a pass in the William Fleming game.

Valuable Game Experience Was Gained

"With only two players returning from the starting offensive team, we knew that this year would be one of rebuilding," said Bob Merritt, head football coach, "but when Ray Kilgore and Kenny Morningstar were injured in the first game, the outlook was worse than before." Kilgore and Morningstar were the two linebackers on defense, and Ray was a co-captain. They were replaced by untried sophomores.

Coach Merritt also added that there were five seniors and a junior whom he could depend on, but he had to use four other juniors and a freshman who had no experience to complete the starting eleven.

After losing the first four games and scoring only two touchdowns, the Comets outplayed V.E.S. and won, 20-14, on a dazzling 81-yard run by junior Mike Piechota with less than 30 seconds remaining in the game.

Ray Kilgore returned after the V.E.S. game to lead the Comets in wins over Lexington, 20-7, and Drewry Mason, 42-0, in the Homecoming game. Kilgore scored 26 points in the rout of Drewry Mason and Mickey Vanney had his best night, gaining more than 100 yards.

To end the season the Comets won one and lost two Western District tilts. William Fleming won, 13-0; Andrew Lewis forfeited because of the use of an ineligible player; and Jefferson Senior defeated the Comets 33-7. The last games brought the Comet record to four wins and six losses for the year.

By Underclassmen

Junior quarterback Ricky Harrell gets set to pass as a George Washington player comes in to attempt the tackle.

"Mighty" Mickey Vanney gains extra yardage in the Roxboro game.

Mike Piechota drives hard against the Roxboro Rockets but gets stopped in the game that was played on the home field.

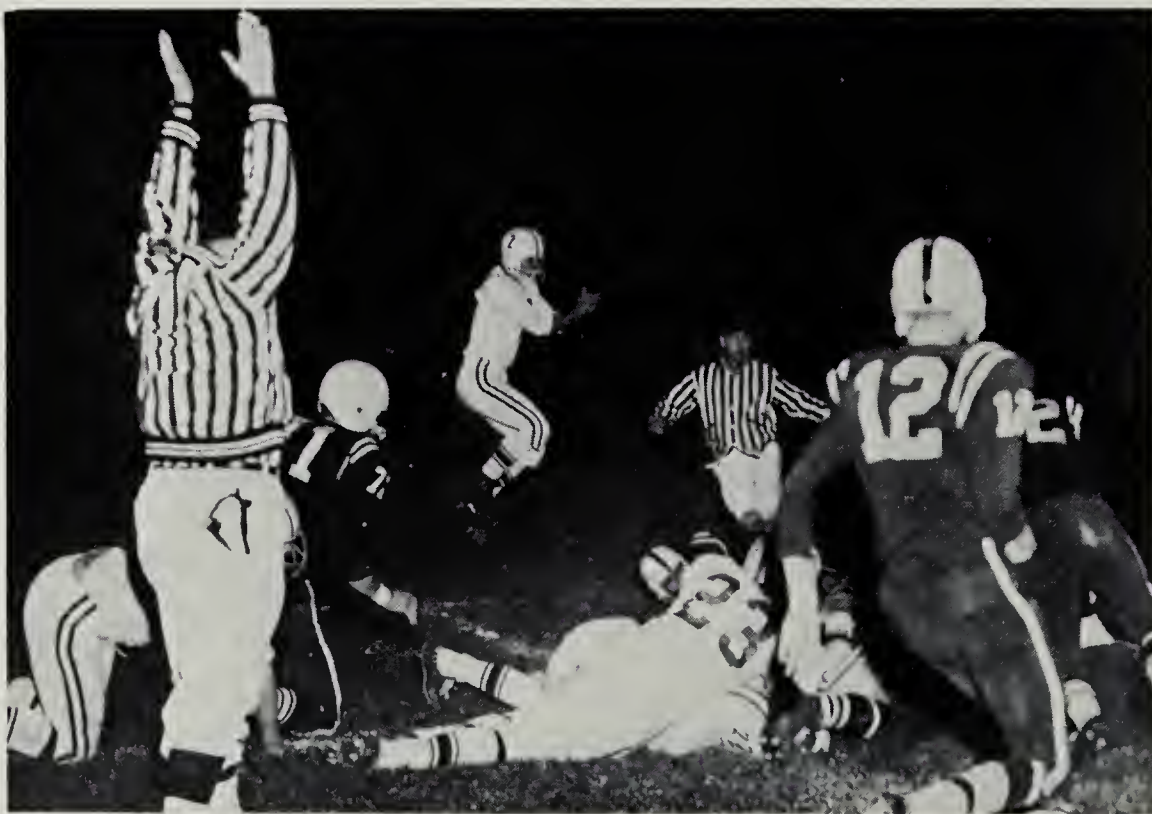

Thirteen Seniors

Junior halfback Mike Piechota gains ground in the Roxboro game.

J. E. Tuck (11) romps in the Homecoming game against Drewry Mason.

An unidentified Comet scores one of the six touchdowns racked up against Drewry Mason.

Played In Their Last Homecoming Game

Bill Moore, Russell Lindley, and Charles Spears gang up to tackle a William Fleming ball carrier.

Comets End Campaign With Two Wins

Although lacking in height, the Halifax County Blue Comets had hopes for a successful basketball season. They intended to defeat their opponents by teamwork, good ball handling, and accurate shooting.

Comet morale was somewhat crushed, when the team lost the season's opening game. The Blue Comet cagers also lost their second game; however, returning to the home court, the Comets built up their spirits by downing the quint from Reidsville, North Carolina, by one point. With renewed efforts the Comets took on new opposition and bowed before each of them. This continued for 14 consecutive losses.

For the final contest of the season, the Comet cagers entertained the Patrick Henry Patriots of Roanoke in the local gymnasium.

Because the Comets trailed at the end of the first quarter, it looked like another loss for the varsity team. But the second quarter proved otherwise, as the Comets led 23-17. In the second half of play, the Blues built several leads only to have them whittled down by the Patriots. Then finding that extra something which they had not had all season, the Comets began to pull away from their opponents. With good ball handling and accurate shooting, the Comets built a game-winning lead. Under the watchful eyes of an elated crowd, the Big Blues defeated Patrick Henry, 50-42.

During the entire season, the team actually played better than the 2-16 won-lost record indicated, as they lost several games by only a few points.

Yell louder! Straighten this line!

After many hours of practice during the summer and after school, the enthusiastic junior varsity cheerleaders were finally ready for the first big game. This year, in addition to painting posters and banners, planning pep rallies, and originating new cheers, the J. V. cheerleaders also yelled for the freshman basketball team.

Additional money was needed in order to attend more out-of-town games so, along with the varsity squad, the cheerleaders sponsored a dance after a football game and later sold names on the back of the Homecoming program. Selling pencils was still another money-making project.

Cheerleaders Sparked Varsity Play

The varsity cheerleaders are (FIRST ROW) Elizabeth Fogle, Carolyn Rogers, Gayle Harmon, Linda Loftis, Vicky Dyer. (SECOND ROW) Bruce Wilborn, Nell Lacy, Em Edmunds, Sharon McGhee, Anita Traynham, and Elinor Carter.

The varsity cheerleaders gave the Comets moral support at all games, home and away, and had pep rallies to encourage students to attend games. They also placed posters and banners on bulletin boards and in the lobby to inform and to invite students to the games.

By entering two floats, one of which won first place, in the homecoming parade and by selling ads and spaces for students' names on the Homecoming program, the cheerleaders showed true school spirit.

In the spring the cheerleaders, their sponsors, and the coaches had a cheerleading clinic for the training of future cheerleaders. Rules of basketball and football were taught by the coaches. The cheerleaders and sponsors trained the clinic participants in acrobatics and cheers.

After the clinic, ten new cheerleaders and one new alternate were chosen to replace the eight senior cheerers who were graduated in June.
